ALBERT EINSTEIN - PERSONAL LIFE

An interesting fact about Einstein failed his first college entrance exam. Einstein was an "absent-minded" professor. He was very disorganized. Students didn't understand him and he often forgot appointments. He never wore socks, nor did he comb his hair. His clothes were always wrinkled.

He loved sitting in a boat and recording his thoughts.

Surprisingly, he couldn't swim.

Einstein was a pacifist who hated war. He supported the Civil Rights Movement. He even helped the war effort with an auction for a hand-written version of his Theory of Relativity.

ALBERT EINSTEIN - PERSONAL LIFE

Einstein lived in Nazi-ruled Germany, a country that didn't like Jewish people. Because Einstein was Jewish, he couldn't teach at the University. At one point, the Nazis wanted him dead. So, he immigrated to the United States. In the mid 1900's, he became a US citizen.

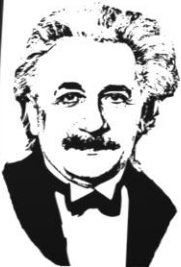

Einstein was married twice. He had two sons from his first marriage. He, also, had a daughter, Lieserl, who may have died very young.

Einstein died on April 18, 1955.

Einstein excelled in Math and Physics, but failed at Chemistry.

ALBERT EINSTEIN

Albert Einstein was born on March 14, 1879, in Ulm, Germany. He was a scientist and inventor from the early 1900s. Some consider Einstein to be one of the brightest people in the 20th century. He is best known for his theory of relativity and the equation $E=mc^2$. Einstein was brilliant in math and sciences. Einstein grew up in Munich, Germany, with a Jewish father who owned an electronics company. He had a younger sister named Maja. Einstein was four years old before he talked. From four to the age of seven, he repeated sentences over and over. Einstein didn't even begin reading until age nine. Some think he may have been autistic. Math riddles and making towers from cards were his favorite hobbies as a kid. Einstein eventually loved reading and learning, but he hated school. He got

FAMOUS DISCOVERIES

In 1905, Einstein discovered that tiny particles (matter) can be turned into energy. He created the famous formula $E=mc^2$. In other words, energy equals mass multiplied by the speed of light, squared. Energy = (mass)(speed of light)². Also, in 1905, Einstein proposed the idea of photons. He decided that light was made up of particles, called quanta or photons. Scientists didn't agree at the time. However, it was proven by the study of physics and formal experiments. Einstein developed a theory of relativity. He began to study the Electrodynamics of Moving Bodies. He began to study general relativity.

EINSTEIN'S LEGACY

Einstein had a profound impact on physics and quantum physics. Einstein's discoveries have jump-started so many other modern inventions. His ideas and breakthroughs have helped develop the nuclear bomb and nuclear energy. Today, we have great conveniences like automatic doors, elevators, and DVDs thanks to Einstein's contributions to science. Televisions, garage door openers, and DVDs couldn't have been invented without Einstein. Time Magazine named Einstein "Person of the Year" in 1999. Einstein won the Nobel Prize in 1921, based on his work with theoretical physics.

FAMOUS QUOTES

"I am enough of an artist to draw freely upon my imagination. Imagination is more important than knowledge. Knowledge is limited. Imagination encircles the world."
