The Second Continental Congress established the Army o... ...14th, 1775. The Army, the largest and oldest branch of the U.S. ... works on the ground to control and fight on land. The Army's choice of weapons includes tanks, helicopters, artillery, and rifles. The mule is the Army's mascot because, in the past, mules hauled the Army's weapons and supplies. The official song of the Army is "The Army Goes Rolling Along." The Army motto is "This We'll Defend" because of the Army's history of defending the United States.
The Continental Marines were established on November 10th, 1775. In 1798, President John Adams signed an act calling this group the United States Marine Corps. The Marines fight on land, sea, and air. They work with the Army, Navy, and Air Force to deliver task forces where needed. They are deployed to take action swiftly and aggressively. Their motto is "Semper Fidelis," which means "Always Faithful." The English Bulldog is their mascot because, during World War I, the Germans called the Marines "teufel-hunden" (translated to mean Devil-Dogs). "The Marines Hymn" is their official song.

On October 13th, 1775, the U.S. Navy began fighting on the oceans and seas. The Navy uses ships, aircraft carriers, submarines, cruise missiles, and more. Bill the Goat is the Navy mascot as of 1893 because sailors ate livestock at sea. The motto for the Navy is "Non sebi sed patriae," meaning "Not for Self, But Country." The Navy song is "Anchors Aweigh." The U.S. Navy is the largest navy in the world.
The U.S. Air Force was established in 1947 after the National Security Act of 1947. Before 1947, it was part of the Army. The Air Force fights in the air with fighter planes and bombers. It also oversees military satellites in space, along with cyber security. The falcon is the Air Force mascot because falcons have speed, courage, and graceful flight. The motto is "Aim High...Fly-Fight-Win" and the song is "The Air ... Song" ("Wild Blue Yonder").
